CONFERENCE WELCOME MESSAGE

We hope this conference will peak your interest and desire to work in this fast-paced, highly relevant career field known as Finance. We have brought together a string of working professionals, many of whom have graduated from UC Irvine, to educate and encourage you into the right career choice.

The Pursuing Finance Conference is headed by Hyung J. Kim, CFP, CEO & Portfolio Manager at an Irvine-based investment firm, KLK Capital Management. Prior to establishing his own hedge fund, Hyung served as the Vice President of Wealth Management at Merrill Lynch, with more than 15 years of experience in the finance industry. At Merrill, Hyung started fostering both undergraduate and graduate student interns' interests and career aspirations in finance, security investment and asset management. Many of Hyung's interns were UC Irvine students with major concentration in accounting, economics, finance mathematics, or even PhD candidates. Under his mentorship, Hyung's interns have gone to pursue professional career in investment banking, consulting, quantitative analysis, and auditing.

We are grateful to collaborate with Professor Solna, Hyung's long-time friend, on this event. Professor Solna is currently a faculty member in the mathematics department at UC Irvine, and his research has focused around Random Media, Parabolic scaling and waves, econometrics, multiscale stochastic volatility Equity, interest rates and credit derivatives. His academic focus helped mentor many mathematics PhD students at UC Irvine, who are now successful in quant analytics related career fields.
